Members of Green Hills Nursing Staff Receive BSN

Oct. 9, 2017 (AMES, IOWA) – School is in full swing, but for three members of the Green Hills nursing staff, school is finished for this part of their careers.

Steve Lochray, Director of Clinical Services, Katie Schmidt, Health Care Nurse Coordinator, and Jasmine Birt, Green Hills Health Care Center (GHHCC) staff, recently received their Bachelor of Science in Nursing while working full time at Green Hills.

They aren't the only Green Hills employees furthering their expertise in their field. Cayla Bullerman, Assisted Living and Home Health Coordinator, completed her Registered Nurse licensing and Amanda Evanson, GHHCC staff, is currently completing her BSN degrees. All received assistance from Green Hills to pursue their education.

“I have been able to continue doing what I love while continuing my education for my career as I work at Green Hills,” said Schmidt. “Green Hills has opened many doors for me and supported me through education assistance.”

Green Hills provides the unique opportunity of education assistance for any of its employees who choose to pursue higher education degrees. Green Hills offers scholarships, student loan repayment for nurses, professional financial services through Employee Assistance Program (EAP) and financial education classes on-site.

“Offering employees tuition assistance, scholarships and student loan repayment plans has been invaluable to Green Hills,” said Mollie Frideres, Human Resources Director. “Not only does it help us attract and retain employees, it helps our employees maintain and learn new skills which benefit the residents who live here.”
